Sorry - that's an acronym from the military I guess (that's where I worked before here), but it just means "close of business"...so anytime today would be great. The maps are needed for a meeting tomorrow.

Thanks again,

Subject: Redistricting - Kudos

Hello Everyone-

On Wednesday, I was in the House Republican Caucus while they discussed redistricting. Towards the end of that discussion, Rep. Ipson stood and expressed his appreciation for our staff and our work on redistricting. He went on for a minute or two about the long hours worked, and described our staff as "amazing," "committed," and "professional." He talked about the 17 meetings held around the state this summer and how they could walk in to a meeting hundreds of miles away from the capitol and "all we had to do was sit down" because staff had already been there and had everything ready for them. I could go on, but you get the idea. Following his comments, the entire caucus stood and applauded our staff. For Rep. Ipson and those directly involved in redistricting, the appreciation was clearly genuine and heartfelt.

As we try to catch our breath before taking the plunge into the final committee meetings and the special session, I say thank you to so many who have helped in different ways to make this work. Mike often reminds us to "be our best professional selves," and you have done that in a remarkable way during these past few months. Special thanks are due to those who have logged so much time with legislators drawing plans, but it has been a broad team effort by so many of our staff. Please know how grateful I am to each of you for your help. Your work and your efforts are noticed and very much appreciated.

Hello Committee members,

We're still looking for one or two more members to join us for a Hinckley Institute of Politics (at the U) forum. The forum will be held sometime during the week of the 17th of October, and they are more than willing to work around your schedule.

These forums usually last about an hour, with 10-15 minutes dedicated to questions, or more, if you wish.

Give me a call or send me an email if you're interested, as we're trying to hammer out the details today or tomorrow. Thanks so much!

John - Ben said that the analysts often get asked for maps by legislators, and he said that it has been difficult to find hard copies of map's that have been distributed at meetings. He and asked me if I could find a place to set them out to make it easy for them to get.

Do you mind if I use the long counter right outside the elevator to place these maps? Another alternative is the counters by the big printer in the corner. I'm just asking because it could look a bit messy.

Thanks,

Subject: Thanks to all who were involved in redistricting

Last night at about 11:00 PM the Legislature passed the congressional redistricting map - the last of the four maps to be approved. With that, the redistricting process is substantially over. Though there was partisan bickering to the very end and will be for some time yet over this very important process with the possibility of a law suit, I can say that our office performed amazingly well in the heat of all this.

The legislative Redistricting Committee began shortly after the legislative session ended and worked long and hard until just two weeks ago when it had its last meeting. Our office, however, was very much involved long before the Committee ever got appointed. John Cannon, who was the lead person for our office for redistricting, along with some of our analysts, worked for the last couple of years with the Bureau of the Census and local governments to prepare for the census and coordinate census data. In addition, he and John Fellows and others went to several training sessions hosted by NCSL and again coordinated with the Bureau of Census. The office also had to prepare two RFPs (Tom, John C., John F., Joe, and others were involved here) to get companies to submit bids for the necessary software to do the map drawing, and another RFP to design an online tool for citizens to draw maps, an effort that is virtually unprecedented nationally. The hardware and software had to be purchased and installed (Mark Allred and his capable staff helped those already mentioned here).

So when the Redistricting Committee first met, literally hundreds of man-hours had been invested already by this office in getting things ready for the Committee. Then came the 20 meetings throughout the state. The logistical planning was truly significant. Large and functional rooms had to be found and reserved. Computer hookups and internet access had to be available, and screens located. Hotel reservations had to be made, meals planned, and vans and even planes had to be reserved and paid for. Then came the meeting mailings with agendas, etc. Here, Kim was superwoman. She was the logistics and reservation planner, problem solver, and minuteman all in one.

Our attorneys, especially John F., Eric, Emily, and Angie, were the go-to guys. The committee benefitted greatly from their wise counsel and advice over the months.

However, when it is all said and done, the real troopers in this long and politically charged process were our analysts. After all, they did the really heavy lifting. They were the ones who lived in our basement for six months drawing maps again and again and again. They drew maps one-on-one; they drew maps with groups of legislators looking over their shoulders; they even drew maps by telephone. They did this for hours on end, Monday through Friday, weekends and holidays, day and night. They drew maps when legislators were happy, mad, pressed for time, and ready to shoot anyone in sight. They drew maps for elephants, donkeys, and yes, even porcupines. Yet through it all they continued to be "their best professional selves." So a special thanks goes to Joe, Leif, and Jerry, who were the heaviest lifters of the heavy lifters. But Allison, Art, Ben, Brian, Mark, Phil, and Rich also played major roles. I simply cannot say enough about the effort these guys and gal put in.

I have never been more proud of working with this office than I have during this most political of all legislative processes than I have these last several months. Please know that I appreciate all of you and consider myself truly fortunate to be able to work with such professionals. You all made the office shine indeed. Thank you so much.

Mike

Mike, thanks for the compliment. I really enjoyed working on redistricting and learned so much about the political process. However, I do need to pass the thanks on to all of the secretaries who helped coordinate and take meetings. It was a true team effort. So thank you awesome secretary colleagues :)

Last night at about 11:00 PM the Legislature passed the congressional redistricting map - the last of the four maps to be approved. With that, the redistricting process is substantially over. Though there was partisan bickering to the very end and will be for some time yet over this very important process with the possibility of a law suit, I can say that our office performed amazingly well in the heat of all this.

The legislative Redistricting Committee began shortly after the legislative session ended and worked long and hard until just two weeks ago when it had its last meeting. Our office, however, was very much involved long before the Committee ever got appointed. John Cannon, who was the lead person for our office for redistricting, along with some of our analysts, worked for the last couple of years with the Bureau of the Census and local governments to prepare for the census and coordinate census data. In addition, he and John Fellows and others went to several training sessions hosted by NCSL and again coordinated with the Bureau of Census. The office also had to prepare two RFPs (Tom, John C., John F., Joe, and others were involved here) to get companies to submit bids for the necessary software to do the map drawing, and another RFP to design an online tool for citizens to draw maps, an effort that is virtually unprecedented nationally. The hardware and software had to be purchased and installed (Mark Allred and his capable staff helped those already mentioned here).

So when the Redistricting Committee first met, literally hundreds of man-hours had been invested already by this office in getting things ready for the Committee. Then came the 20 meetings throughout the state. The logistical planning was truly significant. Large and functional rooms had to be found and reserved. Computer hookups and internet access had to be available, and screens located. Hotel reservations had to be made, meals planned, and vans and even planes had to be reserved and paid for. Then came the meeting mailings with agendas, etc. Here, Kim was superwoman. She was the logistics and reservation planner, problem solver, and minuteman all in one.

Our attorneys, especially John F., Eric, Emily, and Angie, were the go-to guys. The committee benefitted greatly from their wise counsel and advice over the months.

However, when it is all said and done, the real troopers in this long and politically charged process were our analysts. After all, they did the really heavy lifting. They were the ones who lived in our basement for six months drawing maps again and again and again. They drew maps one-on-one; they drew maps with groups of legislators looking over their shoulders; they even drew maps by telephone. They did this for hours on end, Monday through Friday, weekends and holidays, day and night. They drew maps when legislators were happy, mad, pressed for time, and ready to shoot anyone in sight. They drew maps for elephants, donkeys, and yes, even porcupines. Yet through it all they continued to be "their best professional selves." So a special thanks goes to Joe, Leif, and Jerry, who were the heaviest lifters of the heavy lifters. But Allison, Art, Ben, Brian, Mark, Phil, and Rich also played major roles. I simply cannot say enough about the effort these guys and gal put in.

I have never been more proud of working with this office than I have during this most political of all legislative processes than I have these last several months. Please know that I appreciate all of you and consider myself truly fortunate to be able to work with such professionals. You all made the office shine indeed. Thank you so much.

Thanks Kim. I'm glad that redistricting is finally coming to an end for you. It is a very difficult assignment. I hope you have some time for a little breather before session starts. Tell everyone hello for me.

Mike, thanks for the compliment. I really enjoyed working on redistricting and learned so much about the political process. However, I do need to pass the thanks on to all of the secretaries who helped coordinate and take meetings. It was a true team effort. So thank you awesome secretary colleagues :)

Chelsea - when you get a chance, could you have someone bring over 15 of the following Redistricting Maps:

District Population Map - House
District Population Map - Senate

As well as 15 copes of the 2011 Redistricting Principles.

I attached the files so you know which maps I'm talking about. Hard copies are located in Leif's redistricting office.

It would be helpful if we also had a large envelope to put the maps in for Sen. Van Tassell to take with him.

thanks so much!

I could not find a "Waddoups_03" congressional map. Was that presented at any meeting? If not, I will also need a PDF sent to me. I do not have access to the redistricting map files. Only the PDF's that have gone public.

I just checked the other meetings, and the only other Congressional plans I have from President Waddoups are:

"Congressional Plan D - Doughnut hole" - presented June 15
"U.S. Congressional Plan - Waddoups Plan J" - presented July 9

Are either of those the "Waddoups_03" plan you would like printed? I've attached them as well. But again, if anything has changed on them since they were presented I will need an updated PDF.

Thanks so much,

Hello,

Just to ensure we're all on the same page, I have updated all the base maps on the website, as well as ESRI. They are shown as shared. All the maps on the website are linked to previous and/or new base maps, so people are able to navigate easily between them, to see what changes were made.

Secondly, I will be making a post detailing Thursday's meeting, as well as one summarizing today's.

If you have any suggestions or fixes, let me know.

Hi Kim -

I went down and counted the remaining Sumsion_06_Modified_A maps and there are 17 copies left. I will bring those to you shortly.

Would you please ask Willie to print another 60 copies for this Thursday's redistricting committee meeting?

Thanks

Hi Kim -

I went down and counted the remaining Sumsion_06_Modified_A maps and there are 17 copies left. I will bring those to you shortly.

Would you please ask Willie to print another 60 copies for this Thursday's redistricting committee meeting?

Thanks

Rich

Sure - I've combined and will send to printing. Did you want copies just for the committee, or would you like some made for the public as well?

Hi Kim-

Rep. Sumsion would like us to notice up a committee meeting for Tuesday at 10:00. This is in addition to, not in place of, the Tuesday 2:00 meeting. Can you help me remember to do that first thing tomorrow? Thanks-

John

I most likely could, but I could have a redistricting meeting that day (they are scheduling them a day at a time). So, it may be safer to ask another secretary not directly involved in Redistricting to switch...Debra, Chelsea, or Tracy.

Good Morning!

Hey I am working the computers over in the Capitol this week and I noticed that I have the front desk this Thursday right over when I'm supposed to be in the Capitol. If we are still in session on Thursday, would you be available to switch me Friday for Thursday?

Thank you.

Hi Leif - at today's meeting Chair Sumsion discussed a plan by Casey Anderson called "Anderson_01". Do you know the correct spelling of the submitters name? I just want to get it right for the minutes. Also, do you know if that is Casey Anderson, as in Sen. Casey Anderson?

Thanks,

Kim

There were a few more plans that Rep. Sumsion discussed at today's meeting that I don't have the official name for the minutes:

One was "box 3" (that's what it sounded like to me). It was created by Rep. Sumsion.

The other was one created by Dougall called Cong 3? or something that sounded like that.

Leif, could you confirm the correct names? I've cc'd the rest of you to see if you happened to know also.

Thanks so much...and no hurry on this. I know you're super busy!

Subject: Redistricting GRAMA Requests

Hello All-

Can we get together for a short meeting in the conference room at 1:30 (on this floor, not downstairs) to talk about the GRAMA requests? I'd like to do this today, understanding that some of you are going to want to take time off after interim tomorrow (some of us, I should say). Tom will give us some direction about what information we need to gather. Another reason to do it in that room is so we can teleconference in any of you if needs be (Ben and Allison, I'm looking at you). Thanks and see you then.
