These forums usually last about an hour, with 10-15 minutes dedicated to questions, or more, if you wish.

Give me a call or send me an email if you're interested, as we're trying to hammer out the details today or tomorrow. Thanks so much!

Democratic legislators set a plan to make Utah schools #1 nationwide

A coalition of Democratic State Legislators believes it's time to make Utah schools number one in the nation. The group will unveil its "Best Schools Initiative" at Foxboro Elementary School in North Salt Lake on Tuesday, September 13 at 10 a.m.

"Utah has been named the 'best-managed state' in the nation and has been ranked number one in business. Now it's time to see that Utah schools also rank number one, that they become the very best in the nation," said state Sen. Karen Morgan, D-Cottonwood Heights. "Utah schools currently rank 30th in student achievement. That is unacceptable. That needs to change."

Democratic lawmakers have set this goal and are ready to work on a plan to achieve it. The cornerstone of their "Best Schools Initiative" is a fundamental commitment to public education and support for strong neighborhood schools.

A strong public education system must include:

1. Great Teachers. Utah must attract and keep the very best teachers who bring strong skills and enthusiasm for learning to the classroom. They must be committed to helping each child reach his/her highest potential.
2. Individualized Attention. Small class sizes, tutoring, reading and math specialists, and teachers' assistants bring about higher student achievement and higher graduation rates.
3. World-Class Curriculum. A strong core curriculum, along with a wide variety of electives and broad enrichment opportunities such as arts, music, career and technology education, physical education, etc., is vital to developing well-rounded students.

Number One schools must also have adequate resources to meet these needs, they must encourage increased parental involvement, and they must ensure that students are taught in a safe environment.

“We are committed to this goal, and we invite all legislators, school administrators, teachers, students, parents and citizens across Utah to join us in this effort,” Morgan said. “It’s time to turn our focus to providing the very best schools in the nation for our children. They deserve no less.”

Brian,

Thank you very for your phone call yesterday. I enjoyed talking with you, and appreciate your checking further into my concerns about the Public Education Online law. This is the Salt Lake School District link:

<http://www.slcschools.org/schools/Online-Education.php>

It states:

"You may earn no more credits in a semester than the number of credits you may earn by taking a full course load during the regular school day at your high school classroom."

My concern is this limit. I believe students should be allowed to take at least one online class at a time IN ADDITION to their 8 classes at regular high school. Why limit students who want to learn more? Struggling students may want to take an online class because they can work at their own pace with personal feedback from the teacher. Advanced students may want to take an online class to free up more time for challenging courses at school. Online classes provide a means to complete some basic core classes at home in the evenings, or during summer months, so that student may benefit from the variety of electives offered in their local high school settings. It seems punitive, stifling, and unnecessary to force students to drop on class at school for every online class taken at home. Allowing even just one online class at a time, in addition to a full load at school would seem reasonable, and would answer my concern. I urge the legislature to provide funding for the Utah Electronic High School program. It is an excellent way to promote education that meets the needs of students in a wide variety of circumstances.

Thanks again for your help. I will be interested to hear what your colleagues have to say on this matter.
Polly

Online Education

The Utah Legislature established public Education Online in the 2011 General Session. The program enables eligible students to earn high school graduation credit through the completion of publicly funded online courses. The purposes of Public Education Online program are to:

- Provide students with access to online learning regardless of where students attend school.
- Provide high quality learning options for students regardless of language, residence, family income, or special needs.
- Provide online learning options to allow students to acquire the knowledge and technology skills necessary in a digital world.
- Utilize the power and scalability of technology to customize education so that students may learn in their own style preference and at their own pace.
- Utilize technology to remove the constraints of traditional classroom learning, allowing students to access learning virtually at any time and in any place and give students the flexibility to take advantage of their peak learning time.
- Provide personalized learning where students can spend as little or as much time as they need to master the material.
- Provide greater access to self-paced programs enabling high-achieving students to accelerate academically, while struggling students may have additional time and help to gain competency.
- Allow students to customize their schedule to better meet their academic goals.
- Provide quality learning options to better prepare students for post-secondary education and vocational or career opportunities.
- Allow students to have an individualized educational experience.

Who is eligible:

You are eligible to participate in Public Education Online if you are in grades 9-12 and enrolled in a Utah public school. For the 2011-2012 school year, you may enroll in up to two credits in online courses (except for early graduation - see below). You may earn no more credits in a semester than the number of credits you may earn by taking a full course load during the regular school day at your high school classroom.
