Attention Mormons:

What part of The Golden Rule do you NOT understand?

The concept that every district must have a mix of urban, suburban, rural, and uninhabited rocks is completely illogical nonsense. Rural areas are best served by a district that incorporates the largest percentage of rural voters possible. Do not be deceived by Republican Party double-talk. There is one and only one reason for the urban, suburban, rural, and rocks mix: To carve up northeastern Salt Lake County to make sure that no member of the Democratic Party wins a congressional election.

Is this how YOU want to be treated? Is this what your neighbors requested (demanded) in the public hearings? Read the comments: Keep communities of interest together.

For a state that puts so much emphasis on traditional and religious values, why do you allow your elected representatives to ignore completely the widely respected Ethic of Reciprocity, also known as The Golden Rule?

Do you want to be treated with respect? Then YOU need to get off the sofa and tell your elected representative to stop protecting their fellow incumbents and start showing some respect for the independent, moderate, and progressive voters who do not want their communities of interest to be hung, drawn, and quartered.

One more comment, this one regarding State Legislative districts. If Utah is to be a Republican form of government, it would sure make more sense to return to Utah State Senatorial districts that were simply a district for each of the 29 counties so that counties are represented on an equal basis in the Utah State Senate. As we see in the federal republic, each state, no matter how large or small in population or geography has equal representation in the senate. So too should each county in the state of Utah have equal representation in the Utah State Senate.
