"The cake is a lie." And the "pizza slice" approach to redistricting is based on the idealistic yet unrealistic assumption that rural voters will be able to compete for attention while being outnumbered (and potentially out-contributed) 3 to 1 by voters in urban and suburban precincts.

Although I strongly object to the majority party's requirement that we ignore the simple logic that ~25% of the voters should have 25% of the congressional delegation focused on their unique issues, this map is less "rude, crude, and ig'ner'n't" than the other pizza maps currently being discussed.

The pizza maps completely ignore the needs and interests of rural voters. Instead of having 25% of the congressional delegation highly focused on the needs and interests of ~25% of the voters, pizza maps guarantee that rural voters will outnumbered and potentially out-contributed 3 to 1 by voters in urban and suburban areas.

On the other hand, this map does a better job of keeping urban and suburban communities of interest together, which makes it less vile than maps designed explicitly to de-facto-disenfranchise independent, moderate, and progressive voters.

Please consider the "Fair 4 Utah Counties and Cities" plan (ID 68408).

My "Fair 4 Utah" plan was submitted to the Redistricting committee by Rep. Fred Cox at the Oct 7th meeting. This modified plan addresses many of the concerns.

This plan has key elements put together like no other plan. It is compromise plan fair 4 Utah.

The plan has been submitted but does not show on the redistrictUtah.com site. In place of a online link, images are attached.

In the Fair 4 Utah Counties and Cities plan:

- All of the counties are whole except Salt Lake.
- The Eastern, Southern, and Western Counties are grouped the same as the Rep. Sumsion map that passed the Senate. (If there is a better grouping, I can still make it work with Counties and Salt Lake county Cities together.)
- Salt Lake county is mostly split into two districts 84% with a small portion in the other two districts.
- All of the cities in Salt Lake county are whole except West Valley City and three others (South Salt Lake, Salt Lake City, and Herriman) with minor splits. As an example Salt Lake City is all in one district except about 100 people.
- In Salt Lake County the cities are grouped based on their similar shared communities.
- District 2, 3, and 4 are at the target mean of 690,971. District 1 is one over at 690,972.

In Salt Lake County
District 1	93,813	9%
District 2	539,727	52%
District 3	67,995	7%
District 4	328,120	32%
Total	1,029,655	100%

Good congressional districts are so important.

Thank you for your efforts and time!

I understand that this variant of my concept extends its southern district northward to divide Utah County among two districts (rather than three), extends its eastern district westward to a clean longitudinal line along Redwood Road, and extends its western district southward into the Sevier Desert.Â I don't like this variant quite as much as my original concept, but I understand that it better pleases various Republican legislators.

<http://www.redistrictutah.com/maps/congress-garber-plan>

There are times for steadfastness and there are times for compromise.Â It's always wrong to compromise our clean conscience to sin and/or our innate rights (to life, property, contract, et cetera) to tyranny; this is rather like negotiating with a murderer for a mutilation, instead.Â But redistricting is a matter in which compromise is generally exceptionally appropriate.

I favor a compromise that will serve the general interests of all Utahns equally, rather than the special interests of their politicians and/or parties unequally, and I suspect that King's proposal here may be such a compromise---or, at least, one that's about as close to this ideal as Utah's public can possibly get without their legislature rejecting it.

I have to say, it is encouraging to see Cox and McAdams sitting down to work things out. This map shows that two politically-vested parties compromising produces better results than the parties alone, but not as good as when you don't consider politics at all, only geography (which results in the Garber NSEW strategy or the North-South-2 Urban strategy).

I could live with this strategy if absolutely necessary, but why does District 1 go around southern Davis to pick out western SLC?

While I am sure that a better compromise could be made, this one appears to be a justifiable attempt. I support this map.
